

Every child is unique in their abilities and learning styles, but how much time do we spend to understand their abilities? Today we are going to focus on the Multiple Intelligences concepts and VAK learning styles models that offers relatively simple and comprehensible methods to understand and explain child's preferred ways to learn and develop. We at Mentors Basket are trying to emphasize on the point that no single method can help you determine your ability and preferences but mix of styles and preferences can help you determine your Blind Spots.

There we illustrated an interpretation of the Score of both VAK and Multiple Intelligences concepts:

How can this interpretation help you? It helps you to understand overall personality, preferences, and strengths - which will almost always be a mixture in each individual person.

At Mentors Basket We help you discover your blind spots , and unknown potential that you have yet not explored, Our Programs helps you to evolve yourself and transform you to be a successful person.
